

PLHA Google Group and Facebook Group User Guidelines

PLHA Groups are to be used for neighborhood communication; including Board announcements, requests for referrals, fundraisers, general information, etc. Below are a few simple guidelines to adhere by when using these forums.

1. Proceed with caution, always err on the side of sensitivity as you are not well-acquainted with everyone in the Facebook or Google group.
2. Do not over post, posting about a non-neighborhood event once is sufficient.
3. Please check your hostility; no one wants to open their e-mail to a hostile e-mail; profanity, aggression or picking fights will not be tolerated. Although the site is not moderated to ensure these types of posts do not go out, they can be removed once brought to the Board's attention and violators may also be removed or banned from the group.
4. Please take a moment to consider whether the entire community needs to read your response when replying; then choose "reply" or "reply all". For example, if you are replying to a member to join their team or club or if you are replying to an invitation, only the sender needs to see your response. If a neighbor is looking for a recommendation and you would also like to have that information, send the sender a reply to please forward any recommendation to you as well. If the information being sent is of importance to the entire neighborhood, please by all means use "Reply All".
5. If you have a concern regarding any HOA issues, please direct your question directly to the Board or Committee member to which it pertains. You will find their contact information on the HOA website.
